

Uveitis and Ocular Inflammation

Vittala International Institute of Ophthalmology is a tertiary referral centre for uveitis and ocular inflammatory disorders. The department also receives prompt referrals from other specialities of medicine like rheumatology, dermatology and pulmonology for ocular inflammation. It provides comprehensive diagnosis and management for uveitis and ocular diagnosis. Laboratory support for special investigations to aid the diagnosis of complex uveitic entities is available. The department also performs intravitreal injection procedures, aqueous chamber taps and surgeries for complicated uveitic cataracts with high success rates. The department takes pride in research and its many publications in high impact peer reviewed journals.
